Greetings Mayor Cerrato,

As Founder/CEO of Mothers On A Mission I am personally contacting you on behalf of the victims of domestic violence and the youth in our state who are enduring dating violence as early as age 13. Our organization has been working with victims since 2009 and over the past few years I have personally had the opportunity to travel the state and speak with middle and high school students on teen dating violence. Because of the rise in teen dating violence and domestic violence in our state, we believe that education on these issues is very imperative. We have committed to educating our communities in hopes of giving awareness to parents, teachers, friends and neighbors. To do this we need your assistance.

We are declaring Saturday June 15, 2013 as "North Carolina Domestic Violence Proclamation 100 Day." We are planning a statewide awareness day. We are reaching out to Mayors across the state to proclaim this day in their city, town, or village. Our goal is to get 100 Mayors to sign this proclamation. Once we have the signed proclamations we will contact radio station, television stations, newspapers and magazines requesting that they dedicate 15 minutes, or print an article on these issues on that day. We will also have events planned by DV Organizations across the state. We will be asking radio and television stations to participate in a 15 minute Domestic Violence Black-Out, in which all radio and televisions will discuss domestic violence at the same time.

It would be an honor if we could include you and your residents in this event by having you sign this proclamation declaring Saturday June 15, 2013 as "North Carolina Domestic Violence Proclamation 100 Day" in your area. We want to reach our goal of 100 signed Proclamations no later than April 30th. This will allow us the time we need to organize the Black-Out and other events.

Can we count on you? Please sign the attached proclamation and return it to us via email or mail it to:
